CITY OFFICIALS CAN'T TAKE PART

They Must Not Participate in Municipal Politics Besides Casting Their Votes.

In view of the coming municipal election to fill the vacancy on the city council, and the recent discussion of the part that city officials should take in municipal politics, Mayor Grosvenor, this morning on behalf of the city commissioners, issued the following statement to the heads of the various departments:

"Using the large number of employees necessitated by municipal ownership of municipal utilities and owing to the fact that these employees are under the control of the administration of the day it has been decided by those who are opposed to municipal ownership that the employment of so large a body of possible voters under the control of the administration constitutes in itself a grave menace to the free and untrammeled expression of the people at the polls by reason of the fact that such municipal employees might be so influenced by the city or that candidate, favorable or unfavorable to the city, that their votes might be cast in a biased manner."

"The commissioners believe that the present moment is an opportune time to lay down a strict rule that municipal employees of the city shall either directly or indirectly participate in municipal politics either to cast his or her vote. Since a vital principle at stake the commissioners are upon all employees of the city the instruction of the public to have it distinctly understood that they will exercise their power of dismissal in the event of any municipal employee in so doing."

STRAITHONA NEWS

COWS AT LARGE.

The cow by-law, which was enforced with such stringency some weeks ago and led to the demolition of the crathole pound keeper, has been practically abandoned. A dead letter every day numbers of cows roam the streets and highways and it is not infrequently that they can be seen grazing where they can pick up along the edge of the sidewalk. The land of the C. and E. through the city is a favorite pasturage for the wandering cattle, and yesterday parts of the city property adjoining more remote a small-odd ranch than the margin of a city street.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

A meeting of the Strathcona City Council was held Saturday forenoon to discuss the advisability of proceeding with the public improvement in the way of grandstand side walks that were temporarily stopped by the absence of the council. The first scheme was to finance the improvement by having the council on three months' time and putting the grandstand side walk grading company. By the time these liabilities became due there would be payment of city taxes sufficient to meet them.

With the mayor and the engineer were in favor of going on with the sidewalks, the general opinion among the aldermen was that every dollar the city could command, outside of what is necessary for current expenses, should be applied on the money the city owes. This was the decision ultimately reached by the council, and to that end the grandstand side walk grading company.

UNION PRINTERS AT HOT SPRINGS

Fifty-Third Session of the International Typographical Union Opened Today.

Hot Springs, Ark., Aug. 12.—The fifty-third convention of the International Typographical Union, was called to order this morning in the spacious dining room of the Hamilton hotel, which has been temporarily converted into a convention hall.

Addresses of welcome were made by the mayor of the city, the officers of the local union and others, and were responded to by President James M. Lynch.

The reports of officers, and then presented to the convention. About 1,200 delegates and visitors are in attendance.

The report of President Lynch is a comprehensive document, and covers the progress made by the International Typographical Union for the past year.

The report of the International Typographical Union for the past year, was a very large degree of success, and was working not more than eight hours per day.

In the president's report the proposition to pension the superannuated and incapacitated members of the union is given considerable space.

This feature, if adopted, will be a great benefit to the union, but it is looked on with much favor by the delegates, and members of the union.

The pension feature will be submitted to a membership vote of the International Typographical Union.

The Union's Fiscal Record, Secretary-General Brannstrom, in his report, shows that the collections for the year ending May 31, 1907, have reached the enormous total of $2,029,240, and the expenditures $1,642,441.90, leaving a balance in the treasury of $386,798.10.

The fair proportion of the balance is collected during the same period, and the report of the Union Printers, $60,331.40.

The secretary-treasurer shows that the expenditures from the fund for the year reached the sum of $39,270. The total expenditures from the fund since its establishment in 1902 have been $445,165. The average age of death of printers for the year was 46.7 years.

It is proposed to build an addition to the Union Printers' Home, and for this purpose is known as the Cunningham Memorial Fund. There was in this fund on May 31, 1907, $22,009.44. This amount represents voluntary contributions by the membership.

The net cost of transacting the general business of the organization, excluding the cost of the eight-hour campaign, has been only $16,000. The average cost per member has been 27.5 cents; the average cost of officers' salaries was 10.0 cents.

The total cost of the eight-hour campaign and the attendance of the convention, as shown by the secretary-treasurer, has been $23,069.11. The regular and disbursements of the International organization from 1901 to 1907 are $4,559,318.06 and $4,609,072.12, respectively.

The receipt of the reports of officers, the obliging of the delegates, the appointment of a committee, and the disposition of some routine business, the convention adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Whites to Attack Negroes. Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 12.—Information received direct from Parkersburg early this morning confirms the fact that a white man in a cab who was believed to have been killed arrived safely at Parkersburg. The identity of the man could not be learned. The only connection Parkersburg had with the case was a small telephone line, which was closed at 11 p.m. At that time it was said that the white people at Parkersburg intended to attack the negroes at day light, this (Sunday) morning.

ENOORE TIED HEART.

Say, not the struggle sought avails. The labor and the wounds are vain. The enemy finds not, nor faith, And all things have been their ruin.

If hopes were dopes, fears may be fears. It may be in you smoke concealed. Your comrades chase a new the field.

And, but for you, possess the bow. For while the tired waves, vainly breaking, Seem here no painful thing to rain, Far back, through creeks and inlets making, Comes silent, flooding in, the main.

And not by eastern windows only, When daylight comes, comes in the night; In from the run clogs slow, how slowly! But westward look, the land is bright!

A PROVINCIAL FAIR FALL.

It is well worth while considering whether Alberta's Provincial Fair should not be changed from the mid-summer to a fall exhibition. This could be accomplished in either of two ways—by postponing the entire event until the autumn, or by regarding the race feature from the exhibition, holding the race meet at the usual time and the exhibition during the fall. The reasons for one or other of these changes are of a vital importance, but one is perhaps sufficient. An "exhibition" is designed as an occasion for the display of the country's products, and the whole point and aim of the exhibition is lost if it does not afford each opportunity. Mid-summer fairs as exhibitions of agricultural products must always be far from satisfactory. Neither hay, grain, nor vegetable crops are mature at that season, and the most that can be shown is the progress they have made, and the prospects for the harvest still several weeks in advance. Mature grain of the previous year may be displayed, but this savours too strongly of the dim and distant past to arouse popular enthusiasm, and is not usually shown in large quantities. In consequence, the educational value of the exhibition is lost, the growers of crops have no opportunity to compare the finished products of their labor, to mark, learn and inwardly digest the cause of their success or failure as compared to their competitors. Yet this educative rivalry is the very thing to be served by an exhibition, and the exhibition which does not permit and encourage it must be written down as a failure in the essential reason for its existence, however enjoyable the popular attractions may be. This purpose can be served only at a time when the matured products are available. On the other hand, it will be argued that the farmers can not afford the time to attend a fall fair, and that the exhibition is held in mid-summer to enable them to attend. But it would surely pay the farmer better to sacrifice a day if the midst of a busy season to visit an exhibition where he could learn something of value than to expend time and money attending a fair which has nothing of practical value to offer him beside the stock-show, which could be held quite as well in the fall as in mid-summer. The farmer may be relied upon to attend the fair if the fair is worth attending—and from the farmer's standpoint it is very doubtful if the mid-summer fair is worth attending. Provincial Fair should be Provincial in its scope—it can hardly be said when it offers little if any practical benefit to one of the two branches of agriculture which are the basis of the Province.

"CORPORATION CONNECTIONS."

It is ridiculously "stupid" of "Liberal politicians who gain their knowledge of political economy 'pioneering in a new and necessary' trade, leading a new path, to 'social legislation and thinking that their 'ipse dixit' must be accepted 'with gracious forbearance by the 'unwashed' institutions of the land."—Edmonton Journal.

Now will the rule and unlearned legislators of this beleaguered province consider themselves set upon? An will they understand that they, the unscrupulous promoters of this grand, long nothing of the science of political illusion, rather comprehend the incidence of Toryism? No more presumptuous and stupid questioning of the divine right of the money-lender will be tolerated. The oracle has spoken. Henceforth we must consult the will how best to curb his rapacity.

LIGNITE DEBARRED.

The recent order of the Railway Commission forbidding the use of lignite on railways is of very considerable commercial interest to this city and district—interest of the un-entailoried kind. Hitherto Central Alberta coal has been used on the Canadian Northern Railway, whose requirements already afford a very respectable market and are certain to multiply as business increases. The Grand Trunk Pacific, too, has been a prospective customer of very considerable volume. If the recent order of the Commission holds, these roads will be required to use anthracite, procured either in British Columbia or Pennsylvania, and probably from the latter fields, as the C.P.R.'s demands are understood to exhaust the B.C. supply.

This will affect more than the coal miners. It will mean that engines and cars must be diverted from the regular traffic and used to haul enormous quantities of coal over long stretches of track—a diversion which can only be performed with a considerable normal traffic of western roads is more than they can handle, and when the task of increasing rolling stock is added, the chances of a stoppage in mid-winter, when traffic is heaviest and most difficult, will be multiplied. The problem of keeping the trains moving will be complicated by the necessity of maintaining a large number of coal stocks supplied from a distant source.

The reason for the order is the danger of setting fires when lignite is used, the softer coal, when burned under forced draft, sending out clouds of sparks which frequent, by cause disastrous fires in dry seasons. Fires supposed to be due to causes frequently the sources of prolonged litigation and still more prolonged dissatisfaction. It is desirable that the danger be removed, but not that the railways be further hampered, or that the local coal-mining industry be discouraged. Could an efficient spark-arrestor be devised the danger would be removed and the order could be doubled by relaxed. Experts being sent to Edmonton by the Commission, with whom the mine operators and the railway company will doubtless be thoroughly familiar in the matter, in the hope of devising a scheme which will permit the use of the coal without endangering property along the railway. In any event, the floor of the Legislature, now laid in the winter season, when the ground is covered with snow, and when it is desirable that every engine and car be devoted to hauling the traffic of the country.

A CONTRAST.

The announcement made by Attorney-General Cross, of Alberta—that as well as one proposed to prosecute as members of the Alberta Lawyers' Association for conspiring to obstruct or trade—makes a pleasant contrast, when the inactivity of Attorney-General Campbell, of Manitoba, is considered.

Mr. Campbell related, point blank, at the floor of the Legislature, two sessions ago, even to permit a committee of the Legislature to consult the workings of the law. That it was only at the request of the Alberta Government that Manitoba after appointed a member of the law Commission, now taking evidence.

Mr. Campbell and the whole Roblin Government refused to provide the Grain Combine, even when a most conclusive prima facie case had been made out before the Grain Commission—and when private prosecution was finally started, displayed resentment for the defeat of their law scheme, and declined to do anything that the law did not compel them to do.

This contrast is something for the people of Manitoba to turn over in their minds.

The contrast is between a Government that merely does its simple duty and a Government that employs every possible means to shirk its duty—those who violate the people that give that Government its existence. Plattering to Manitoba's intelligence—is it not?

INDIA DOES NOT FEAR A MUTINY

Two Presidents of India Touring the World, Speak in Winnipeg of Conditions.

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—That the riots in India have occasioned a great deal of uneasiness in England, and the more than in England itself, is the opinion of Hugh Dinning, Assam, and H. Douglas Dinning, of Calcutta, who arrived in Winnipeg on Saturday.

The agitation began at the same time as the partition of Bengal, although it may not have been caused by that act, and it has been fostered by the sedition written in the native papers. The government paid no attention to the native press until the agitation broke out into open violence. If they had acted promptly it would never have come to a head. Among the other acts of lawlessness in connection with the partition of Bengal was a claim that the high court for eastern Bengal and Assam should be located at Calcutta, and the government has announced that this will be done.

No Fear of a Mutiny.

"While the English people in India realize more strongly than the people in England the need for active repressive measures, they understand the changed condition too well to be afraid of another mutiny. When we were in Australia we were asked if there was any fear of another such mutiny, but that is out of the question. The troops are concentrated in such a way and railway communications are so good that a sufficient force can easily be sent to put down any rising. Besides, the natives are divided. It is largely a race of religious strife, between the Hindus and Mohammedans. The Mohammedans have taken no part in the agitation, and in the villages they have been persecuted by the Hindus. The priests, too, and men of substance are perfectly loyal."

No Feeling in Assam.

"In Assam," Mr. Dinning remarks, "where one would expect the feeling among Bengalis against partition to be strongest, there never was any agitation, but their newspapers from Kagal do not circulate much among them."

Bodies Found at Varanasi.

Montreal, Aug. 10.—The bodies of Shirley Davidson and Miss Eleanor Hingston, victims of last Sunday's boating accident near Varanasi, a short distance from the summer residence of Lord Hingston, were found by scavengers today. Davidson's body was found some miles down the river, and that of Miss Hingston eleven miles down. A large number of relatives and friends of the deceased families, as well as a good sized party of officers and men, were engaged in the search since Monday morning. The is a safe and rare investment because DIAMONDS are still gradually rising in price, and a precious stone made new will increase from 25 to 50 per cent, during the next few years. The better the diamond, the larger the increase. All our diamonds are personally selected. We have some of these mounted in very pretty rings, ranging in price from $10.00 to $250.00. We would be pleased to have you inspect them.
